
5 Blogs to Help You Blog

As you develop your blog and refine its voice, keep researching. What makes for a good blog? What are the latest trends in blogging? Which bloggers in government are most successful?

Here are some of our favorite websites:

- DigitalGov ^[1] regularly posts about the latest news, projects, and trends in digital services in the public sector. Check out their assessment of the state of federal blogging in 2016 ^[2].
- GovLoop ^[3] is a social network and knowledge base with a blog, resource library, and newsletter.
- GovDelivery blogs ^[4] about technology and engagement trends in the public sector. They also offer a resource library and periodic learning webinars.
- The Content Marketing Institute ^[5] has a fantastic blog that will keep you current on the latest trends in blogging, a resource library, and a newsletter.
- Check in with Georgia.gov's blog ^[6] to see how your fellow state agencies blog.

Source URL: <https://portal.georgia.gov/interactive/book-page/5-blogs-help-you-blog>